

National Association of Black
Women in Construction, Inc.

“What’s in it for me?”

We are glad that you asked! As an ambitious business professional, that question deserves a golden answer. Your interest in becoming a member of the National Association of Black Women In Construction (NABWIC) sparked at the opportune time. This information packet will provide you with insight about how our member services build lasting strategic partnerships with organizations and individuals committed to providing inventive and transformative solutions for black women and their respective communities.

The National Association of Black Women In Construction was founded by the visionary, Mrs. Ann McNeill, in 1991 to create a coalition of Black Women in construction. Since that time the membership has become comprised of construction industry professionals who specialize as contractors, architects, engineers, developers, trade experts, and related professional service providers. The demographic now consists of Black Women, men, and all ethnicities represented in the Nation.

Some of the direct benefits offered through NABWIC membership are contract opportunities, networking and the Think and Grow Rich Mastermind Group. Our indirect benefits include the NABWIC Talks Radio Show, public exposure for your business, and community outreach projects – ensuring an enriching experience to enhance your success. We know that the demands of operating a successful business can be time consuming, which is why we have created options where you will find bottom line value with your NABWIC membership.

Thank you for your interest and welcome to NABWIC.

Our History

Ann McNeill, Founder

On December 12, 1991, the vision for the National Association of Black Women in Construction (NABWIC) was conceived as an idea while I was thinking about the vision for my life. From the inception of the concept, it was to be a coalition that represented the voice of Black Women in construction. Always, the intent was to "go back "into the junior high schools, high schools and colleges to encourage young Black Girls and young Black Women to enter the construction industry as professionals, tradeswomen, architects, engineers, suppliers, contractors, subcontractors and laborers.

Our Mission

Founded to increase the national awareness of African American women in the construction industry. The charge of the National Association of Black Women in Construction (NABWIC) is to advocate for Black women to further opportunity for its membership. We advance the NABWIC mission, as our core foundation is strengthened, with the building blocks of new educational, entrepreneurial, professional and social network connections.
